'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

It started with one of these empty cardboard boxes that cigarette manufacturers use on window display ads.

It came into the possession yesterday of a young man who saw the possibility of a practical joke.

With the assistance of a friend he filled it with paper clips and paper to the exact weight of a pack of cigarettes.

Taking tobacco in no form himself, he borrowed from the friend, a cellophane wrapper from an actual cigarette package.

With this he covered the box making a very authentic appearing package of a popular brand of smokes.

Then he presented it to a young lad who wandered through.

The y. l. thanked him very cordially and left the room with the pack in his pocket.

He was seen by reliable witnesses to remain in the next room talking.

He had no opportunity to purchase cigarettes, he was absolutely known to have no cigarettes on him at the time of the presentation and as his preference for tobacco lay in another brand, he would not be apt to have that particular kind anyway.

Leaving those in the next room, he returned to the first place pulling the pack from his pocket.

To the amazement of the donor, he opened the pack, pulled out a bonafide cigarette and lighted it.

"Thanks," he repeated. "These cigarettes are okay. I thought they might be stale or something if you were giving them away."

The originator of the practical joke is mighty puzzled.

The recipient of the cigarette is mute on the subject; he "saw nothing of any fake package."

ROLPH TO SIGN VALLEY WATER BILL SATURDAY

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 2.—Next Saturday, at 11 a. m., was the time set by Governor James Rolph tonight for the signing of the bill authorizing establishment of the $160,000,000 state-wide water conservation setup.

The bill was passed by the recent session of the Legislature. Clifford C. Anglin, assemblyman from Contra Costa county, was instrumental in winning the fight for the important measure.

Governor Rolph has aided the proposed water program ever since he has been in office. He said he hopes all persons favoring the program will be in his office when he signs the measure.

The state-wide program includes the central valley projects of dams at Kennett in Shasta county and Friant in Fresno county, and a system of conduits and canals lifting water from the Sacramento river into the San Joaquin valley.

The measure to be signed by Rolph on Saturday creates a state water project authority, under which California will seek Federal aid for the gigantic conservation program.

Briefly, the measure provides for the issuance of revenue bonds to finance the project, the bonds to be purchased by the Federal government from the funds made available under the Recovery Act.

The bonds would be redeemed through sale of water and power.

TWO MURDERS SOLVED

SAN DIEGO BOY ADMITS ATROCITIES

BULLETIN

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 2.—The 19 year old San Diego murder suspect, giving his name as Philip Edwards, late tonight amazed authorities with a story of the killing of a five-year-old boy several years ago.

Brought here, he led officers to a point in the harbor where he said he threw overboard a bottle containing parts of the body of little Dalbert Aposhian.

Moved To Hotel

He was removed to a hotel where a crowd gathered around the jail here. The gathering was orderly and officers said they anticipated no trouble.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 2.—The shroud of mystery over San Diego's violent deaths seemed lifted tonight with the asserted confession of Philip Edwards, 19.

Young Edwards, graduate of San Diego high school, is said to have confessed two of the atrocious crimes which brought the southern city into the limelight in recent months and is connected with others.

Kills Youth

He first admitted, officers say, the brutal slaying of 7 year old Dalbert Aposhian whose mutilated body was found floating in San Diego bay last week.

Late yesterday he is said to have confessed also the killing of Hazel Bradshaw, young telephone operator, whose body, also mutilated, was found in that vicinity in 1932.

Another murder under investigation is that of Louise Tauber, young girl whose nude corpse was discovered hanging to a tree more than a year ago. It is thought that this murder might also be laid at the door of the youth.

Tells Police

Edwards was taken into custody in Los Angeles last night and was questioned today concerning a confession which Chief of Police Harry Raymond said he had made to detectives.

He had been picked up in the Wilshire district about 10 o'clock last night as a loiterer.

According to Chief Raymond, the youth said he met the Aposhian boy at Fifth and B streets here about 4 o'clock Tuesday, June 18. He enticed the boy to take a street car ride with him to East San Diego after buying some sandwiches.

Used Rock

There, authorities quote him, he took the boy into a brush-covered field, struck him on the head with a rock and left him while he returned to the street to steal an automobile.

Chief Raymond said detectives had found a rock with some discoloration on it and a napkin which might have been used to wrap sandwiches at a spot pointed out by the suspect.

The young man is said to have explained that he took the unconscious boy to the waterfront and mutilated him with a butcher knife before throwing him in the water.

Part of the story has not yet been checked by authorities and was said to be conflicting.

Circus Ballyhoo Planned to Put Over NRA Drive

Unknown

THIS 2 year old boy was recently abandoned in a Detroit theater by an unidentified man.

This Gent Really Deserves Looking Over A Bit, Folks

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 2.—UP—Promising to "shun invitations to social affairs," Avery C. Moore, stormy democrat insurgent, today announced his candidacy for governor of California.

He promised that if elected, he will pardon Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings and indemnify them "at mechanics wages" for every day they spent in jail. He said he favored abolition of capital punishment.

Moore campaigned for assemblyman from the 18th district last fall but was defeated.

Big Oil Firms Join NRA Move

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—UP—Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and affiliated companies with a total of 46,000 employees today signed the NRA blanket code pending adoption of separate code for the oil industry.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The Gulf Refining company announced today it had signed the President's re-employment agreement pending final adoption of the oil industry code.

Judge Odell Marries Pair

C. A. Odell, justice of the peace, yesterday performed the service uniting in marriage two southern California persons.

They were Harris K. Nash, 35, of Hayne, Los Angeles county and Lillian C. Beaver, 31, of Los Angeles.

The ceremony was performed in the Richmond city hall.

Santa Fe Man In L. A. Hospital

Walter Patrick who resides at 539 Forty-fourth street has entered the Santa Fe hospital at Los Angeles to undergo surgery in the near future.

He is employed in the local shops of the railroad company.

Fatal Shooting On Ocean Liner Will Be Probed

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 2.—UP—German authorities were prepared tonight to make a thorough inquiry into the fatal shooting aboard the liner Bremen of Karl Werner Hoyer, III, of Rochester and New York City.

Charles Manger, young Stanford University student and close friend of Hoyer, who has admitted shooting the 21-year-old stock broker was held incommunicado aboard the liner pending its arrival here at the end of its crossing from New York.

Bodily Shaken

He appeared badly shaken by the shooting, which he insisted was accidental and which officers and other passengers also described as "a complete accident."

The shooting occurred early last Sunday in Cabin No. 28 on the Bremen, which the two young men occupied jointly—a cabin known as the "millionaires' compartment" because of its lavish fittings.

The captain of the Bremen sent a radio to the United States consular authorities in Hamburg, asking that a lawyer be retained for Manger, to serve him during the official inquiry here into the fatal shooting.

Release Predicted

In view of the description of the tragedy by ship's officers, including Chief Officer Wilhelm Bahr, all of whom declared themselves convinced the shooting was purely accidental, the inquiry was expected to exonerate Manger.

Traces of other bullet marks in the cabin were found, the messengers said, indicating Manger and possibly Hoyer had practiced shooting the weapon which caused Hoyer's death.

Held on Ship

At Cherbourg, France, where the Bremen touched enroute here, Manger was restrained from landing. French authorities had no authority to take action inasmuch as the death of Hoyer occurred under the German flag on the North German Lloyd ship.

A United Press correspondent at Cherbourg was permitted to view the body and reported that there were two clean bullet holes in the back of the neck. He was unable to see Manger, who was held in his cabin incommunicado.

Claims Accident

At the captain's preliminary investigation on board, young Manger appeared prostrate with grief. He declared he had been examining the revolver when it fired accidentally. The captain was summoned to the cabin and said he found Hoyer dead.

Mother Guilty Of Manslaughter In Baby's Death

VISALIA, Aug. 2.—UP—Convicted of manslaughter because she assertedly slapped her infant son and caused him to die, Nancy Yates Wilson, 36, of Newhall, will face Judge Frank Lamberson Friday for sentencing.

Her speedy one-day trial ended with the jury of seven men and five women returning the verdict after deliberating an hour and a half.

The woman claimed she slapped the child to silence its crying. When she awoke the following morning the child was dead.

PAULSON IN RICHMOND

Arthur Paulson, formerly with the Gulf Pacific line as agent in the Eastbay, has left the former company, and is now with the Parr-Richmond Terminal. Paulson is serving as freight representative of the Richmond terminal. He takes to his new position a wide experience in the freight and shipping business as well as a large following of friends.

22 IMPRISONED IN ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK SAFE

CORYVILLE, Kan., Aug. 2.—UP—Over trails made famous by the "Bloody Dailtons," a quartet of a century ago, heavily armed robbers and national guardsmen tonight pursued bandits who early today imprisoned 22 persons in an attempt to rob the citizens bank at Wier, Kan.

Armed with machine guns, the six or seven bandits drove into Wier in several automobiles about 1 a. m. all were nattily dressed, some in white flannel trousers.

Capture Marshal

Some immediately made E. Bennett, night marshal, captive. Later Miss Agnes Adamson, 30, telephone operator, was taken from her post manning the telephone system useless.

Shelter Door

At the bank, the bandits shattered a door and lifted a two ton safe containing $3000 cash and securities of great value, to a truck. They used a wrench.

William Marton, Jr., assistant cashier, and his father, heard the crash of glass but were made captives when they investigated. The 22 year old mother of the assistant cashier saw what was taking place from the Marton home two blocks away.

Finding her telephone useless, Mrs. Marton ran across the street to the home of a neighbor, William O'Neil. They helped on O'Neil's car, drove five miles to a working telephone and summoned officers from surrounding towns. The bandits fled.

Officers On Trail

Officers were in pursuit of the bandits within a few minutes after they left town. Brig. Gen. Milton R. McLean, Adjutant General, ordered troop 8, 11th cavalry, National Guard, to join the chase.

Safe Unopened

A little further away the truck with the safe still unopened, was found mired in deep mud. The guardsmen thought they had the fugitives surrounded at noon but the bandits disappeared to at least temporary safety in the dense undergrowth of the Verdigris River bottom.

Members of the family and close friends attended the services which were conducted by Rev. H. G. Gardner of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Interment was at Cypress Lawn cemetery.

Johnson, prominent sportsman and attorney and former army major, ended his life, it was believed, because of despondency over his recent divorce from Mrs. Martha Ruddy Leets Johnson. He also was said to have suffered intermittently from shell shock incurred during the World war.

His former wife married Comdr. Howard Flanigan, U. S. N., a short time after a Reno divorce.

100,000 DUCKS SAVED

WRENTHAM, Mass.—More than 100,000 ducks are served annually to guests at an inn connected with a duck farm near here.

Chauffeur

MRS. Vera Schoen won a divorce in Los Angeles when she testified her husband forced her to constantly "chauffeur him around the country on business trips."

Livermore Backs Down on Boycott Of NRA Movement

LIVERMORE, Aug. 2.—UP—Merchants of this little "cow town," who threatened to refrain from joining the NRA movement until they were shown it would improve business, began displaying the "blue eagle" today and had little to say about their change of heart.

A dozen posters appeared, indicating cooperation with President Roosevelt in his drive for business recovery.

Previously, the merchants got together and talked at the idea "Maybe it will work, and maybe it won't," they said. "We've got to be shown. We want this thing explained to us. Meanwhile, we'll refuse to join the movement."

It was not known whether some of them had joined and applied for NRA membership anyway, or whether the decision to stay out was not forcible enough to withstand the general cooperative spirit that swept through all neighboring communities.

Anyway, California's "biggest beefsteak" center seemed about to be enticed by the wings of the blue eagle.

Kidnapers Give Baskovitz Back

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—UP—Nathan Baskovitz, real estate dealer and fight promoter, better known as Nat Bass, was released by kidnapers and arrived at the Fugazy bowl in Brooklyn at 12:30 p. m. today.

No money was paid for his release, which came at 11:30 o'clock last night "some place in Queen county," it was said.

The release was said to have been effected on the conditions that his abductors be paid $2000 in the near future. They had demanded first $25,000 and then $25,000 ransom.

Bass was taken Monday night from his car in Bensonhurst, Long Island. The demands for ransom were made on his brother, Arthur Bass, who is the brother of Humbert Fugazy, sports promoter.

WINERY TO REOPEN

ST. HELENA, Aug. 2.—Further activity in the wine industry was seen in the purchase of a winery here by Ide Marco, of Oakland. The winery, inoperative for a number of years, was formerly owned by the G. Rossi estate and G. Poggi, and is located in the city of St. Helena. A crew of men are at work preparing the winery for operation with the fall vintage.

MAYOR TO PUT IN BID AT CONFAB

Richmond will go to war against central and northern California cities today for a United States navy base.

Mayor Walter J. Johnson will attend a conference in San Francisco at the office of Mayor Angelo Rossi, and he will be armed with arguments aplenty favoring Richmond as the ideal and most logical site for the great navy unit.

The conference will mark the opening gun for united action by central and northern cities, as well as all bay district communities, in getting the Navy base establishment on San Francisco bay.

Responses Pledge Aid—Indicative of the enthusiastic support for the project are responses received by Mayor Rossi to his invitation to the conference, which is to be followed by luncheon at the Down Town association's regular meeting at the Hotel St. Francis.

Visiting mayors and naval officials will be Mayor Rossi's guests.

A few of the major requirements of a naval base, all of which San Francisco bay in general and Richmond in particular offers according to Mayor Johnson, are:

A safe and secure anchorage protected from weather, yet large enough and deep enough for the entire fleet and capable of adequate defense; access by rail and water to the markets of the Nation and outside world; accessibility to unlimited stores of fuel, material and food; availability of drydocks and repair facilities; nearness to large labor markets, and a reasonably mild climate near operating area where target practice and fleet maneuvers may be conducted.

The operating base should be near a large and thriving city where there are ample educational and recreational facilities such as those possessed by San Francisco," Mayor Johnson declared.

"If the navy is to be able to operate in the Pacific ocean in time of war, it must have operating bases. It requires only a moment's thought to see how few places there are on this coast, outside of San Francisco bay that meet even some of the requirements I have mentioned," he added.

Oakland Boxer Killed at Reno

RENO, Aug. 2.—UP—Nick Krumlovich, 18-year-old Oakland boxer, fighting under the name of "Speed Sparks" of Seattle, was killed tonight in the first 22 seconds of his bout with Johnnie Blanchard, Reno, who was appearing in his first professional fight.

It was the second fatality in the same Reno ring since July 3, when Vinnie Duran, 18, Kansas City boxer, died in San Francisco from injuries received June 30 at Garfield arena.

Krumlovich was killed when Blanchard shoved him into the ropes. Blanchard was said to have hit Krumlovich a vicious blow in the neck. Blanchard was held by police for questioning.

Faking Banned At Aid Center

A warning to all applicants for free medical aid at the Richmond Health Center was issued yesterday by Mrs. Nora Purviance, director.

They will be prosecuted, she stated, if it is found that they have funds to pay for the medical attention requested. Several cases are reported to have been found recently in which those applying for aid had ample funds.

Speaking Of Sports

LONDON, Aug. 2.—UP—For ten years the British Open Golf championship has been won by an American and golfers here see no earthly reason why it should not continue an American prerogative for another ten.

Starting when Walter Hagen in 1924, it has been won by Jim Barnes, Bobby Jones, 1925 and 1927, Walter Hagen, 1928 and 1929, Bobby Jones again, Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen and this year Benney Shute.

Well Pleased Team
Not only has an American captured the blue ribbon of the golfing world every year, but the team of Americans that come over always have been well-placed. This year, for instance, at St. Andrews, five Americans were in the first half-dozen places.

The reason for this superiority is climate. The Americans are accustomed to playing medal tournaments of 72 holes all the year round. They have learned the championship temperament, which despite two bad early rounds, can come out on the final day for two record-breaking scores.

The British, generally speaking,

Intensive Training
Consequently the spring finds them intensively training for the approaching season, with little prospect of their being at the top of their form when it does arrive.

It is a curious fact that it is usually a British golfer who leads in the qualifying stages of the open, and some times in the first two rounds of the competition proper. But a closer look at the list shows that Americans have been content to qualify, and keep near the top, blossoming forth in the final two rounds.

Just Qualified
For instance, this year, Craig Wood only just managed to qualify with 158, but he tied with Shute for the title, losing in the play-off by five strokes. Shute was low down in the qualifiers, but had only four rounds of par 73 each. Even after the third round he was only regarded as a potential danger.

Ernest Martin, John Recalla and Jack Hooper, all of Richmond, are spending a few days in Grass Valley and Nevada City.

THIRD: Brownie E., Wanderer, Tip Dragon.

FOURTH: Blackie Yale, Charcoal Jimmy, Reaske Chance.

FIFTH: Queen Iris, Clean Face, Kathleen.

SIXTH: In Memoriam, Dusty Trail, Sun Flash.

SEVENTH: Wanderlust, Lady Beatrice, Betty Ross.

EIGHTH: Galentina, Skinnie, Armistice Day.

NINTH: Thrills, Tom Duff, Glorious Yale.

TENTH: Frisco Call, exas Flight, War Ship.

ELEVENTH: King Baldwin, Skiny Buck, Clay Center.

NEW DOG PAYS NEAT SUM AT CERRITO RACE

When Miss Whiz, newly arrived with E. Doyle's kennel, paid $92.20 on preferred option tickets in the first race last night at El Cerrito Kennel club, fans raised their eyes. But that was only a starter, for Garland Lady came through with $78.80 across the board in the fifth race, and the double options on Timber Queen and Asot Deer in the seventh and ninth races returned $278.00.

For eleven races at El Cerrito last night preferred averaged over $18 per race.

Twenty-one more greyhounds are headed for El Cerrito from Southern California today. Manager Geo. Chapman announced. Those include eleven with the Sinova Kennel, owned by C. A. Burnett, featuring Oakland Dictator offspring, and the Frank Falk kennel of ten dogs. All raced at Florida last winter, and have just reached the coast.

Newcomers making their debut before El Cerrito crowds tonight include Skinnie, Dusty Trail, Betty Ross (in the double option seventh) Reske Chance, Lucy Trail and Kathleen of Marshall Cochrane's kennel, which has just come in from Missouri. They looked speedy in schoolings, particularly Betty Ross.

Hayward Tugger
Clinch Title Claim

HAYWARD, Aug. 2.—Defeating the Isleton tug-o-war team in a recent return match in Niles Canyon, Hayward's tug-o-war team sponsored by Mayor Frank J. Cunha still claims the State championship title.

Since the team's organization here some months ago, only one "pull" has been lost by them, to a local veterans' team.

This defeat was later wiped out in a return match, according to Coach J. M. Andrade.

Wrestling King Is In Love Yet With Pretty Judy Allen

RENO, Nev., Aug. 2.—UP—Interested in her romantically is Sonnenberg, the Dartmouth college football star who turned wrestler and became world's champion and married his college days sweetheart, Marie Elliot, came here late today to establish residence for a divorce from the Boston society girl.

He arrived with his manager after a motor trip from Los Angeles. "I still love the little girl very much," Sonnenberg told the United Press.

"Her regard for me has changed and the best thing I can do is to establish residence here and let her get the divorce on a cross complaint."

He said he would charge "extreme mental cruelty."

In stepping aside and allowing Mrs. Sonnenberg, known in motion picture circles as "Judith Allen," to obtain the decree, the former world's champion will be following in the footsteps of Eliott Roosevelt, Harry Bannister and Ann Harding, and Cornelius Vanderbilt.

In each case the husband established residence and allowed the wife to get the decree on a counter action.

Sonnenberg denied emphatically there was any romance between himself and Carole Lombard, film actress who is establishing residence in Calumet to divorce William Powell, debonaire motion picture star.

"Miss Lombard is a lovely girl. I admire her personally and her snappy action."

BOYER HEADED

WOMAN'S BODY IS DISCOVERED

HAYWARD, Aug. 2.—Identity of a woman whose body was found partially buried beneath a pile of driftwood at the mouth of Mt. Eden creek, near the bayshore, is sought today by Deputy Coroner Walter Flierl and deputy sheriffs.

The body was so badly decomposed that the problem of identification may prove difficult, Flierl said.

After performing an autopsy, Dr. E. V. Tiffany, county autopsy surgeon, said the woman had drowned. She was 5 feet 9 inches in height, from 35 to 40 years of age, apparently either married or engaged, as a slight indentation was observable on the fourth finger of her left hand. A ring which she had worn there had apparently been washed away by the water, Dr. Tiffany said.

KILLING DEER JAILS 3 BOYS

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 2.—Killing deer before opening of the season yesterday proved costly for three San Francisco youths, arrested in the hills near Cloverdale.

Two of the young hunters were fined $100 each, with alternative penalties of 50 days in the county jail, while the third, a 16-year-old boy was certified to the juvenile court.

They are George Solbakken, 20, 256 Sadowa street; John P. Sullivan, 19, 1637 Moraga street; and Joseph Siriani, 16, 249 Sadowa street.

They were brought to the county jail by Harley Groves, state game warden, who said that two of their friends escaped with a large quantity of deer meat.

He said the youths had been using spotlights, and estimated they had killed more than a dozen deer, quail and other game birds.

Extreme Cruelty Divorce Charge

RENO, Nev., Aug. 2.—UP—Lewie Luckenbach, New York, and San Francisco shipping magnate late today filed suit for divorce from Della Louise Luckenbach of Los Angeles. He charged extreme cruelty.

Robert Price, attorney for Luckenbach, said the outcome of the case would depend on a property settlement. He said Mrs. Luckenbach was expected to sign the agreement "within a few days."

The Luckenbachs were married at Yuma, Ariz., June 30, 1928, and have no children.

CHECKING MILEAGE RESULTS

When the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association was called in by the Standard Oil Company of California to officially test the mileage qualities of leading gasolines the Oakland Speedway, America's fastest dirt track, was selected as the site for the inspection with R. W. Martland, Jr., member of the national technical committee of the Board, in charge of the runs. Many of these tests were held at night and at their conclusion the Contest Board certified Standard gasoline's competition with other fuels was unsurpassed for mileage. Upper, Martland, seated at left, and others checking over results below, driver Frank Schofield stops for fuel.

CITY'S CAMPS SHOW PROFIT

BERKELEY, Aug. 2.—Berkeley municipal camps thus far this season show a profit of $1500 over all operating expenses according to a report made to the board by City Manager Hollis R. Thompson.

Receipts for the Tuolumne and Cazadero camps for the period ending July 31 totalled $11,173 last year.

Cazadero camp has closed for the season, while Tuolumne camp will conclude its operations on Saturday.

Danville Grange to Hear Speakers

DANVILLE, Aug. 2.—Recently enacted national and state legislation pertaining to agriculture will be reviewed by two well-known speakers at the meeting of the Danville Grange on Wednesday night, August 3, it is announced.

Grange Master Emory E. Smith of Alamo has arranged for the appearance of State Senator Herbert C. Jones of San Jose and Franklin Hiehorn of Santa Clara. The meeting will be open to the public and will be held out-of-doors in the grove adjoining the Grange hall if the weather permits.

Utility District Adopts NRA Code

The East Bay Municipal Utility District, one of the large local employers of labor of many classifications, is today proudly displaying the N. R. A. poster which says, "We do our part."

The blue eagle, clutching a cogged wheel in one claw, and holding the lightning in the other, streams from the window of the main office at 512 Seventh street, and from branch offices in various of the city's centers.

Under the terms of the agreement the district, with its 500 employees, will completely harmonize with the administration's efforts toward recovery by placing all its office and operating forces on a 40-hour week.

Construction and maintenance crews have, for the past year, been on schedules varying from 30 to 40 hours per week, the district and operating agencies have worked from 41 to 48 hours per week, at salaries graduated according to position and experience.

The Utility District proudly displays the N. R. A. banner, according to position and experience.

Al's Barber Shop Features Quality

The up-to-date barber shop is indispensable in every community. Of course we have many barber shops here in Richmond, but there are barber shops and barber shops and while it may seem unimportant that there is a difference in where you have your work done, we can say that there is a big difference in "who's your barber."

In a barber shop service there are those little things that count so much, such as giving you prompt attention, asking you first how you want your hair cut, how you part your hair, if you want the sideburns cut off entirely or just trimmed, do you want the clippers used or such little things that are really important to any man's look.

Here is a barber shop that we know delivers the goods it is Al's Barber Shop which is located at 433 Nineteenth street here in Richmond. Albert A. Alloro is the manager and proprietor and he has spent a life time in his trade.

Al's Barber Shop specializes in ladies and children's haircuts, you can send your children to this shop with the assurance that the work will be done on your child as you wish it, not how the barber wants it. If you so desire, you can conveniently call Al's Barber Shop before hand. Phone Richmond 2723, and tell him just how you want your child's hair to look. We know the services that Al's Barber Shop gives and we can say right here that his prices are the best: Haircut 40c, children 25c and one of those smooth shaves for 25c. Now those prices are hard to beat anywhere for the quality and style work he turns out.

Now here is the program. If you want the best at all times, make Al's Barber Shop your barber.

We might also mention that Al is a Veteran, having served his country during the war. He is a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars and is a prominent member of these organizations here in Richmond.

Local Vacation Church School Ends Its Term

The closing exercises of the Vacation Church school, which has been conducted for the past two weeks at the Lincoln school in Richmond, will be held tonight at 7:45.

Pros and Cons Of Income Tax Will Be Heard

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 2.—UP—Advocates and opponents of the proposed state income tax will have an opportunity to air their beliefs before Gov. Ralph when he holds a hearing on the bill here August 10.

The legislature passed the bill last week, but the governor has not signed it because of widespread feeling against the measure.

There is an added cost in the employment of additional employees, but this is the program the country is asked to adopt, and the Utility District gladly shows its patriotism in this greatest of peace-time efforts.

Captured in Battle

HANDCUFFED and exhausted, Mrs. Marvin Barrow, wife of a member of the notorious Barrow gang of Texas and Missouri, is taken to jail at Adel, Ia. after a machine gun battle between the gang and a posse.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—UP—The country today does not know what to do with the Barrow gang.

SO FAR, so good, and if the man who buys such a franchise knows exactly what he's doing, he's getting what may prove to be a bargain. But there's a joker in the pack and there can't be a new deal. The joker is advertising.

Even the most famous of the European wine names are unfamiliar to the new generation of American drinkers. The unknown ones are of course—unknown. To put them over to bring sales up to a point where the franchise pays for itself, will require millions of dollars for advertising. And this far neither the European firms nor the purchasers of the American rights to their products have given any hint that they intend to finance any such campaign.

The man who buys the franchise may discover that to make his investment pay he will have to foot the bill for his own advertising. Otherwise, just write it off as a loss.

In addition, there's no telling how successful the California wine-growers will be in promoting a heavy tax on imported wines. If the tax is high enough, and the California wines as good as they were not before prohibition, even the best European wines may become virtually unsaleable.

So getting the jump on the rest is not an undervalued gold mine. To make it pay it may have to be sold plenty with hard American cash.

AIMEE HOAXER FACES CHARGE

OAKLAND, Aug. 2.—Mrs. Villa Wiseman-Sielaff, also known as Lorraine Wiseman and Althea McDonald, confessed perpetrator of the Carmel cottage "Miss X" hoax involving Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, today was arraigned on a charge of swindling an Oakland man.

The specific charge was grand theft of $228 from Joseph Kay, stationary engineer, on promise she would write the story of his life and make him $250,000 in book and motion picture royalties.

But, according to Prosecutor Joe Murphy, Kay complains that she took his life savings of $2,000.

Brought before Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell with Frank McDonald, 26, variously described as her son and her nephew, arrested with her on the same charge, Mrs. Sielaff appeared in the verge of collapse.

Preliminary examination was set for August 16. Bail is $5000 cash or $10,000 bond for both prisoners.

Kyne Considers Four Sites For New Race Plant

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 2.—UP—William P. Kyne, prominent horse racing promoter, announced today he would apply for permission to establish a horse racing plant at any one of four California locations.

He wants to build a plant at Rheem, near Richmond; Beresford, San Francisco or Los Angeles, he said.

"The horse racing board can decide which one of these four I might have," he said. "I should prefer San Francisco."

Kyne has been conducting horse racing at Gresham, Ore., near Portland.

JEAN HARLOW, CLARK GABLE, DUE AT FOX

Jean Harlow and Clark Gable are starred together again in "Hold Your Man" which comes to the Fox theater starting tomorrow.

Ever since their smashing success of their romantic teamwork in "Red Dust" it was inevitable that Miss Harlow and Gable should play a return engagement on the screen.

And now the hope of their admirers has been fulfilled in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production of "Hold Your Man" with those two personalities.

"In 'Hold Your Man' Miss Harlow is one of those girls who is always losing her rent money. She meets Clark Gable and from that moment on she's his but won't admit it.

In a story calculated to afford the co-stars opportunity for performances fitting their individual talents, their lives and loves wind up in a swift and vividly portrayed romance.

Double Bill

"Fast Workers" a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer romantic comedy, heads the double program, ending a two-day run at the Fox theater today. John Gilbert, Robert Armstrong and Mae Clarke are starred in the film.

"The Circus Queen Murder" a Theater Guild mystery thriller with Adolphe Menjou and Greta Nissen, is the extra feature on today's program.

Free Movie Dolls

Six of the famous Acrop Fabre Movie Character Dolls will be given away free at the Fox theater tonight as an extra added attraction for the evening show.

Oakland Man Faces Term In Martinez

MARTINEZ, Aug. 2.—Hugh S. G. Brown, 33, of Oakland, was found guilty of a statutory charge filed against him by Miss Frances Miller 25, of Oakland, today.

The jury, seven women and five men, deliberated three hours. Deputy District Attorney Francis Collins prosecuted the case and Harold Sawallisch of Richmond defended Brown.

Miss Miller claimed Brown attacked her near Danville. Judge Thomas Johnston will sentence him Monday at 1:30 p. m.

BUTCHER IN COURT

A 30-day suspended sentence was yesterday given George Zanes, local store operator, who was found guilty of selling meat between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m. in violation of a city ordinance.

"Red Dust" Has Elaborate Sets; Now at Richmond

Clark Gable and Jean Harlow, platinum blonde charmer of the screen, are seen together for the second time in their careers in "Red Dust" sensational drama of Indo-China, which heads the program at the Richmond theater today and tomorrow.

Miss Harlow played opposite Gable in one of his first important pictures, "The Secret Six". Since then, both have been captivated by major fame. She recently changed the color of her tresses for "The Red Headed Woman" and Gable scored an outstanding hit in "Strange Interlude".

Based on Stage Hit
"Red Dust" based on Wilson of Wilson's successful stage play, is a romantic adventure story laid amid the rubber plantations of Indo-China. The screen version was filmed on a pretentious scale with one of the largest settings ever constructed at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

The plantation setting alone occupied an entire sound stage and contained eight separate rooms built around a large compound garden. Porches, mat roads, and flooring of rough hewn timber construction were duplicated from photographs of buildings in the little known district which serves as a locale for the plot.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD—UP—To be a success in sidelines is enough for Bing Crosby.

Where most persons want to become successful in their chosen work, Bing made out in a big way with his hobby.

Always musically inclined, the crooning Crosby, while attending Gonzaga University in Spokane, Wash., played in a small band as a sideline.

Then he took a job in a real band as a trap drummer, and sang choruses as a side line.

Eventually Bing got a job as vocalist with Al Rinker in a Los Angeles theater. Paul Whiteman heard him, liked him, signed him with his "Rhythm Boys."

Wandering for three years, Bing finally landed back in Los Angeles and joined a hotel orchestra. He made a few records—as a sideline—and got his programs broadcast.

The young crooner's record went over in a large way, and when the orchestra job ended Bing was presented with a large contract by a network.

Bing's radio work attracted motion picture attention, and so as a sideline he came to Hollywood to "chortle in The Big Broadcast."

It was still just a sideline, mind you. He came back this year to do College Humor and Paramount promptly signed him for two more flickers with star billing.

Now that Bing is a movie star, he is taking up radio work as a sideline.

Britain Sends Silver Ingots To Uncle Sam

VICTORIA, B. I. Aug. 2.—UP—Silver ingots, valued at $5,000,000 and reported to be a part of Great Britain's token payment on the June war debt installment, are here awaiting shipment to New York, it was learned today.

The big, silver bricks, said to number 9,000, were shipped across the Pacific from India by the British government to fill immediate obligations to the United States. They were brought from Hongkong on the steamship Empress of Canada.

Investigation by ship newspaper reporters led to the theory the $5,000,000 worth of silver is part of the British War debt scheme.

The British government met its June 15 obligation by payment of a token installment on the total amount due on war debts. It was purely a banking transaction and no actual money changed hands.

United States bankers handled the deal and it was assumed the silver brought by the Empress of Canada today is part of the actual payment as arranged.

The silver will be picked up by one of the ships plying in the Panama service and forwarded to New York by express.

Story Of Mooseheart Is Brought West By Adele Oust, Official

District Deputy Grand Recorder Adele Oust of the Women of the Moose has just returned from the annual conference held at Mooseheart, Illinois, and has brought the message from Grand Recorder Katherine Smith, Director General James J. Davis and many of the National leaders.

The members of Vallejo chapter will receive a check for twenty-five dollars, a prize which they earned for having sent the largest number of publicity clippings to Mooseheart during the past year.

Richmond Honored
Sacramento, Richmond, Merced, Modesto, Fresno and Long Beach were among the first ten following, making California a leader among the many chapters in the United States, Canada and Alaska.

Deputy Oust attended the graduation exercises of the one hundred and thirty eight Mooseheart students, five of them being from Moose lodges in California.

Miss Genevieve Ruppel from Placerville lodge, was the honor student among the girls, she has returned to Placerville and hopes to be able to continue her studies at the University of California.

Plan Business Career
Sam and Freda Ekelrod have returned to Napa both expect to follow the business training they received at Mooseheart.

Senator James J. Davis attended the Women's Conference, in his talk he praised the women for their splendid sponsoring of the laboratory for Child Research Work at Mooseheart, the prominent part the chapters are taking in the White House conferences.

He asked the members for the time being to forget all personal thought of party and to get behind the wishes of our President Franklin D. Roosevelt so that our country will soon find a plan to carry us all on to steady work which will bring happy and contented homes.

Friend of Worker
Davis has always been the work ingman's friend, it was this sincere wish to keep families together that caused him to work so hard to build Mooseheart where the children and their mothers have a home, food, high school education and vocational training so as to become fine self supporting citizens of our country when they leave the city of Child hood which is situated thirty miles from Chicago.

Grand Recorder Katherine Smith gave her report on the work accomplished by the members of the chapters under her very efficient leadership. Every chapter has working committees that take care of the members, their family and who enter in all civic welfare movements doing their share to relieve the many needs of the surrounding communities.

The members feel that it is a privilege to be given the chance to enjoy the contentment that is gained by helping many alone the path of life's highway and will continue to do all they can to carry the unselfish vision of James J. Davis on and on thru many generations.

Richmond Twins
Adele Oust visited with Ralph and Raymond Phillips, Richmond twins, now living in the Childs City, Mooseheart, Ill. They are hale and hearty 12 year old lads, she stated.

once-over, he looked carefully into each face. With such quick glances does an old-timer check up on a production's potentialities. By the type of those receiving calls, he judges what is going on. The boy was young in years—in his middle twenties. But in experience he was plainly an old-timer. One could tell that at a glance.

With a few scattered greetings, he began making his way through the throng.

Eleanor said briskly to her husband, "I'm right again. If this isn't our lucky day! That's the boy we want for juvenile lead in our summer stock company."

"You're talking as if it were all settled."

"It is all settled, as far as I'm concerned. And John, I don't think he's had a decent part since City Streets."

"Why mention that, Eleanor? When I think of what they did to that part of mine after the contract was signed, cut it from three marvelous scenes to four sides in diameter."

"And we were lucky to get that, that year, and don't forget it, John. We had run of play, didn't we? Oh, hello there, Tad Emerson."

The young man had dashed over to them, beaming. He sat down on the arm of the lounge, grinned a greeting to John and leaned over and pecked Eleanor on the cheek.

"ELEANORA, darling! Imagine you being here. How are you, Mr. Boothe? Tell me, what's all the brass about? Gruenfeld sent a call for me, immediately as if everyone in the world is here. Eleanor, tell me, do you still make those marvelous treacle puddings that you used to?"

Tad beamed affectionately. He knew his friends. If these two were here, something was up. They didn't come out for every call, and although every agency knew them as "The Duchess" and "Poor John Boothe," they still had a standing on Broadway. They were a useful couple and kept "class" to any cast.

Tad Emerson had met them in "City Streets," had immediately been fascinated by their knowledge of the theater. He'd genuinely liked "The Duchess" the minute he'd laid eyes on her; a breath of the theater that used to be. The stories they told. Tad found them charming. They, in turn, had become quite fond of him and, as matter how far distant their paths turned, they kept in touch with each other spasmodically, but always with genuine and mutual fondness.

They were chatting away, exchanging the past few months' gossip, when Eleanor pressed Tad's arm. "Wait a minute, Tad, here's someone I want you to meet."

Edu Lou was walking toward them, her cheeks a flame of color, her eyes shining. Eleanor wasn't sure, but it seemed as if there might be just a tiny mist of tears in her eyes. As Edu Lou's glance met the older woman's, and saw her welcoming gesture, she stopped.

"I'm so glad you're still here," she said. "Is it always so terrible? Everything went fine until he began asking me what show I'd been in. Of course I fibbed, and he caught me. And I thought he'd throw me bodily through the closed door. He was so mad! She laughed nervously. "But I suppose that's what I get for fibbing."

She paused in confusion as she noticed the amused stare of Tad Emerson, who had sprung to his feet. Their eyes met. Edu Lou dropped hers. Eleanor sensed her embarrassment immediately. "Oh, Miss Smith, do you know Tad Emerson? Tad, this is Edu Lou Smith."

"You mean the Edu Lou Smith?" Tad exclaimed. "You mean Barry almost threw the Edu Lou Smith out of his office? Heaven, child, didn't you tell him who you are?"

Condemned Man Adjudged Mad, Goes to Ukiah

SAN RAFAEL, Aug. 2.—UP—Harry Fuller Gould, convicted Los Angeles slayer, will be moved from San Quentin prison to the Ukiah asylum as the result of a superior court decision today adjudging him insane.

Gould, who won numerous reprieves from a hanging sentence, was convicted of killing a Los Angeles window trimmer. His accomplice, Frank Pacliga, was hanged last month.

Psychiatrists said he did not know the difference between right and wrong.

BOTH looked toward the door, where a handsome young man had paused for a moment. As one accustomed to giving places the ner office in answer to the calling of her name. The eyes of the two people she had just left followed her searchingly.

Then Eleanor Hardwicke spoke quietly. "It can't be possible, John. It just can't be. What is Haviland Smith's daughter doing here?"

"I'm sure I don't know, Eleanor. It doesn't seem logical. But she did mention the Township Players. Wasn't Haviland Smith the man we tried to influence to become a patron for us, and wasn't he the one man in the colony who refused to have anything to do with the theater?"

"YES, John. I see you do remember. If I recall correctly, he was the one who made it impossible for us to lease the theater again the next season. No, I won't forget Haviland Smith. It's certainly a small world. To think that ten years later, we should meet his daughter in a theatrical booking agent's office! I wonder if her family knows anything about this?"

"Like as not, they'd raise all kinds of a fuss if they knew. Say, didn't Smith tie a year or so ago?"

"I think you're right. And so don't he leave some perfectly fabulous fortune in trust for his daughters?" Suddenly Miss Hardwicke exclaimed, "John, do you suppose this girl is an impostor, going around using that name? I wonder if we shouldn't do something about it."

CONSIDINE OUT AS DRY CHIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—John L. Considine, prohibition administrator for the eleventh district, whose appointment "over the head" of William G. Walker, former administrator, three months ago, led to repercussions at Washington, quit his job today.

His resignation was sent to Washington several days ago and accepted.

Considine stepped into the local office after appointment of A. V. Dalrymple, San Francisco attorney, who was named national prohibition chief. Walker, then the administrator, refused to relinquish the reins and an impasse resulted.

The problem was finally solved with the transfer of Walker to Los Angeles by Attorney General Cummings, who had not been consulted in the Considine appointment.

On hearing of Considine's resignation, attaches of other Federal offices here were inclined to believe that he may have withdrawn to avoid accepting a subordinate position with the Bureau of Investigation.

Under recent reorganization plans of the attorney-general the prohibition department will become subordinate to the Bureau of Investigation.

Youthful Bandit Given Reprieve; Pal Dies Friday

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Aug. 2.—UP—Jack D. Green, youthful Los Angeles bandit, held a governor's "last minute" reprieve today, but his companion in the slaying of a policeman must hang Friday morning.

Governor James Rolph, Jr., stayed the execution of Green until September 15. He refused, however, to reprieve Joseph Francis Regan, who allegedly fired the shot that killed Police Lieutenant Hugh Crowley during a theater holdup.

The governor said that since Regan had admitted the crime, and there were no extenuating circumstances on which to base a reprieve, there was no reason for further delaying the execution. Two reprieves already had been granted.

Green was granted another delay to permit the governor time to study findings of the Los Angeles Bar Association, which disproved the claim that the jury convicted the pair irregularly, and to give Green's friends an opportunity to answer the report.

Friends of Green are fighting for commutation of his sentence on the grounds he merely was an accessory in the slaying.

New State Law Hits Kidnapers

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 2. UP—Kidnapers who abduct a person for the purpose of extortion will be liable to capital punishment or life imprisonment under terms of a new California law signed by Gov. James Rolph, Jr., today.

The law, which becomes effective in 90 days, provides hanging or life imprisonment without the possibility of parole for kidnapers who molest their victims, and life imprisonment for those who do not harm the persons abducted.

In addition, the state provided $10,000 to be offered as rewards for the arrest of kidnapers, with no more than $1000 to be paid in any one case.

The two measures were adopted by the legislature during a special midsummer session which closed last week.

"There are cases where capital punishment should be part of the law," said the governor as he

Know Your Firms

Local Industry Aid To Richmond

In making this review of our cities, business firms, and industries we shall not fail to mention those firms which have been a leading industrial factor in making Richmond known as the Industrial City. Especially those firms which are rendering an unusual service to our people. Perhaps you too, have wondered why and where of the Richmond Navigation and Improvement company, that large concern located just off Cutting boulevard, and Third street here in Richmond.

The Richmond Navigation and Improvement company is managed and owned by H. P. and G. B. Lauritzen and N. E. Bush, and the boats that you see in the harbor are those of this concern which ply daily between Richmond and San Francisco, handling freight. The buildings house their offices and their large business of all kinds of building materials, such as cement, hardware, mortar, plaster, putty and many other lines of building materials that are needed by our home builders and contractors. In fact this concern has anything and everything in the building materials line, and here you can secure just about anything you need at prices that are right, and the service is rapid.

Business firms and residents will find the boat freight service as handled by the Richmond Navigation and Improvement company, to be fast, reliable and efficient, and does a great many times, save endless delay. For San Francisco and Richmond this service is conceded to be the best.

Both of the Mr. Lauritzen's and Mr. Bush are business men who have had a part in making Richmond an industrial city they have, and are doing their share in making Richmond a commercial port of the Pacific Coast. In this edition we wish to commend their services to our public and to say unreservedly that this firm is not found wanting when it comes to freight service, and building materials and the type of service they offer.

SHOW PLANNED FOR NAVY DAY

MARE ISLAND, Aug. 2.—Just how much energy is required to drive a projectile from the muzzle of a 16-inch naval gun, will be demonstrated next Navy Day to visitors at this navy establishment.

While instructions on the annual navy open house, October 27, have not been received here yet, authorities are already making tentative plans for the extensive exhibit of navy activities, which last year drew nearly 11,000 northern California visitors to Mare Island.

The event this year will be in charge of Capt. Walter H. Lassing, captain of the yard.

Winnie Davis, stenographer at the Mare Island ammunition depot, which supplies munitions for the battle fleet, posing with one of the big projectiles, explains that five raw silk encased charges, which send the shell on its way, weigh 556 pounds.

Three of the black powder charges, piled one on another, are less than four inches as tall as she.

The ammunition depot will shortly begin preparing its exhibit for the 1933 Navy Day show, with C. L. Rhodes, foreman, assisting Captain Lassing.

Students Soon Will Be Quite Near 3.2 Beer

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 3.—UP—Merchants in the vicinity of the University of California campus in Berkeley previously deprived of the privilege of selling beer, soon will be permitted to handle the 3.2 beverage.

Governor Rolph signed the Morgan beer bill which repeals restrictions on sale of 3.2 beverages within 1½ miles of the university campus.

The bill becomes effective in 90 days.

Your Good HEALTH

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Gloves and Properly-Fitted Shoes Will Prevent Blisters

JUST plain ordinary blisters, those pesky little blebs filled with a watery fluid, that come on the hands when you have worked a little in your garden, or used a hand trowel for a little while in your flower bed, are annoying. Maybe you rowed a boat a little too far, or grasped your oars too firmly in playing golf, used the paint brush on some small job, or cut a little wood for your outdoor campfire. You probably pitched horse-shoes or quoits on your last picnic. Other blisters come on the heels and toes when you have been hiking. They are little insignificant things that your friends laugh at, but they can surely be a source of incapacity and great discomfort and sometimes of severe infection to the one who suffers from them.

DR. CHRISMAN

ABLISTER is the result of friction on some part of the body that has not been used to such treatment. The outer or horny layer of the skin is loosened from the lower muscular and vascular layers. Immediately, nature in her effort to correct anything that disturbs her usual course sends an excess of fresh blood to cover this loosened area. The serum or watery portion of blood immediately fills the space and we have what we call a blister. If the outer skin is not torn off the serum will soon cover this injured tissue and a new layer of skin is formed to take the place of the one blistered. But more often this outer layer is opened and we have under it a red excruciatingly painful raw surface.

ALL the small nerve endings that are so sensitive and to which the skin is attached become very painful to touch. When they are left unprotected by outer skin, these raw spots are a fine place for dirt and bacteria to find a lodging and are frequently the source of very painful sores or the trances for germs, causing infection and blood poisoning. So, they are not to be taken lightly or laughed at.

PREVENTION is, of course, to protect the surface of the skin, when doing any unusual work that may cause rubbing. Wear gloves whenever possible at games or outdoor work. If you prefer to work and play in bare hands, put a strip of adhesive tape across the spot that is likely to be rubbed and do it first. The skin can be toughened by bathing with alcohol or alum water or astringent. But there are many kinds of care should be taken that the skin surface is not made too dry. This will cause cracking, which may be just as bad as blistering.

WHEN walking unusual distances be careful that your clothes are not too tight. Not only should shoes be well-fitted and comfortable but your belt and collar should also allow for free circulation. We shall treat of other blisters and general remedies tomorrow.

QUESTION: My skin always breaks out. Can you prescribe a diet?—W. A.

ANSWER: There are many different kinds of skin eruptions as there are folks who have them. Have your blood and skin tested and find your particular reaction before denying yourself anything you like. Rich foods of any kind must be eaten sparingly. Use plenty of good soap and water with friction to keep skin pores open. Be sure your bowels are active. If pustules are present a cake or two of yeast or two or three yeast tablets a day will aid eruption.

Apricot Sherbet Is Excellent Dessert

For an apricot sherbet that is tasty soak one teaspoon of gelatin in two tablespoons of water for five minutes and dissolve in one cup of apricot juice and one cup of sugar heated together. Let cool and add two tablespoons lemon juice and one and one-half cups of the strained pulp of stewed apricots. Freeze to a mush and then add one-half teaspoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon almond extract and two unbeaten egg whites. Whip until light with a rotary egg beater and then finish freezing. Serve with thin lemon wedges or nut cookies.

WATCH OTHERS AND DISCOVER BEAUTY HINTS

By JACQUELINE HUNT

ALL great beauty specialists possess the ability to pick out instantly a woman's good points and to weigh them against her bad ones. They can visualize a woman, not as she is but as she might be, if each feature were properly emphasized, her coiffure becoming a masterpiece of art, her dress tastefully selected. Have you learned this beauty trick? Can you look at a woman with kindly eyes and measure her advantages against her disadvantages? When you can do this, then you can pick out your own dress and learn to correct them.

If you have not learned to measure another's smartness and good taste, learn to do so. Practice critical observation of those you meet. When you see an interesting woman, discover what it is about her that makes her attractive and good looking. Is it the way she wears her clothes, her coiffure, her figure, the skill with which her cosmetics are applied?

Now repeat your summary, point by point, and see how each little detail could be improved. How a different type of coiffure would improve the appearance of her figure. What a little exercise and a carefully guarded diet would do for her. How complexion faults could be corrected and her make-up carefully applied. These are excellent pointers for yourself!

When you go to your own room, compare yourself with that woman. Do you make the same blunders? Do you have a full length mirror in your room to help you achieve an appearance that is chic and flawless. When you can see yourself from the crown of your shining head to the toe of your neat slippers you can be sure your make-up and your coiffure match your costume.

Do not fret if you have some slight physical defect. If you will study others — even celebrated beauties of the stage and screen you will find that they possess some obvious imperfections — large eyes, large ears, large lips, large nose, large chin. Look at Greta Garbo, for instance, it is her generous mouth, her smiling, arching eyebrows and her swaying, manish walk that give her glamour.

ANSWER TO QUERY
Dear Miss Hunt: I am honestly homesick and I don't know what to do about it. My skin is rather dry, looking dull and bleached and I have tried almost every brand of creams and tonics without improvement. My eyes are always dry, looking red and there are puffy places under them. I have seen my doctor and my health appears to be all right. What else can I do?—L. H.

ANSWER: I wonder if there is a really good beauty salon in your town? If there is you might have a dermatologist examine your skin and advise you. It will be best so much better to be done free in many shops and it might save you a lot of wasted effort and money spent for creams and tonics that do not agree with your skin. Be sure that you are following an intelligently planned diet and that your skin is thoroughly cleansed once or twice daily. Rest and a mild eye wash should improve this. Luster or your eyes if you do not need glasses. Lie down for a few minutes each day and pat a little rich cream into the area under the eyes, squeeze pads of cotton out of ice water and apply to reduce the puffiness.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "Please tell me how to go about giving a shower. How soon before the wedding should it take place? How should invitations be issued to the guests and the bride for whom the shower is given?"—Anna C.

ANSWER: It is customary to give a shower for a bride-to-be as soon as possible after the engagement has been announced. The guests may be called together in any way which the hostess finds feasible, by note, telephone or by word of mouth, as the shower is a purely informal function. The bride should be asked to come to it at the shower is to take place in the afternoon, an hour after the time scheduled for the arrival of the guests.

Tasty Dishes for Today BREADS SHOULD HAVE VARIETY

By JUDITH WILSON

IF YOU haven't already adopted the Continental habit of serving light, sweet and attractive breads with your meals or with a refreshing afternoon cup of tea or coffee, then you should do so before the summer passes. For breakfast, unusual breads add interest—may even be the main part of the meal; for luncheon or for supper they may be served with the beverage in place of a dessert or they may simply contribute their goodness to any meal without any excuse whatsoever.

Unusual Sweet-Breads. For such breads you will need a good basic recipe. If you make bread that is light and fluffy, then use your own recipe as the basis for attractive and unusual sweet-breads. If you have never tried this recipe:

Scald one cup of milk and one-third cup shortening, one-third cup sugar and one teaspoon of salt. Allow the mixture to cool until it is just lukewarm and add one cake of compressed yeast crumbled into small pieces. When the yeast dissolves, add one cup of flour and beat thoroughly. Cover with a clean cloth and set in a warm place to rise. When light, add two well-beaten eggs and three more cups of flour.

Knead the dough thoroughly on a floured board until smooth and elastic and let it rise again. Knead and shape into a variety of twists, braids and buns and place in a greased pan. Brush with melted butter and let rise until light. Bake in a hot oven for fifteen or twenty minutes.

For fancy, assorted buns, shape the dough into small balls the size of a walnut, brush with butter and allow to rise. Before putting into the oven to bake, dip the buns in a mixture of egg yolks and sugar, or in a mixture of egg whites and sugar, or in a mixture of egg yolks and sugar and cinnamon. Others with nut meats and others with a teaspoon of orange marmalade or with your favorite jam. Make coconut buns by spreading the tops of the buns with a confectioner's sugar icing and then sprinkling lightly with finely crumbled coconut.

Prune Buns. Prunes have a delightful flavor of their own that goes especially well with the breakfast cup of coffee or as a dessert for a light meal. Follow the basic recipe for the buns given above. After kneading, roll the dough out very thin and cut into five-inch squares. Spread with cooked, sweetened prunes from which the stones have been removed. Sprinkle with cinnamon and a little lemon juice. Fold over diagonally and press the edges together with the prongs of a fork. Brush with melted butter and allow to rise, then bake in a hot oven for fifteen or twenty minutes.

To get a high gloss on the buns, brush them with cream or with the white of an egg before taking them out of the oven.

Gingerbread baked in muffin tins makes a convenient tea or dinner dessert. Mix together one and one-half cups flour, one-half teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon soda and one-half teaspoon cloves. Pour one-half cup boiling water over one-half cup

New York—What do wear to town and country club dances, especially at the larger clubs where almost public should be determined by the same common sense that tells a girl what to wear during out where she is sure to be dancing between couples. She never wants to look too dressed up, and never forgets to wear a good pair of slippers in an informal setting. A girl in the correct thing. The very ones so many girls affect could not possibly interfere with dancing, besides which one may want to wear a large hat if one wears.

Cosplay Hats. At a nearby beach club, adjacent to New York, an interesting observation of fashion was made. The wearing of large capelines with a profusion of evening type, which is a type of costume, was seen. The hats were of different styles, but all of them had a character in the choice of hat, in extra distinction to the style that is particularly noticeable in the choice of hat. It should be mentioned that these hats were simple with just a ribbon around the crown, with the exception of one model decorated with old flowers to suggest a theme of a costume of similar theme on the bodice of the dress.

At this beach resort, where a very stylish and elegant young woman, dressed in a costume of a very elegant and elegant style, was seen. The hats were of different styles, but all of them had a character in the choice of hat, in extra distinction to the style that is particularly noticeable in the choice of hat. It should be mentioned that these hats were simple with just a ribbon around the crown, with the exception of one model decorated with old flowers to suggest a theme of a costume of similar theme on the bodice of the dress.

Home-Making
By ALINE STERN

The art of salad making has for a long time been a secret to a few and interesting combinations. The following suggestion will point your palate: On individual salad plates arrange liberal servings of watercress, which has been allowed to stand in a marinade made by blending together thoroughly six tablespoons lemon juice, three tablespoons oil, one teaspoon salt, a quarter of a teaspoon pepper. Arrange four slices of orange on watercress and serve with French dressing.

Buy paper napkins by the hundred and keep them handy in the kitchen. They are excellent for wiping up spills and moisture, and come in handy, especially when there are dishes to scrape. It saves the wear and tear on the nap and dish cloth, and keeps the dish cloth and cleaning cloth "fresh" considerably.

Hall fixtures of the battery lighting type are so contrived that the light is shut off automatically after thirty seconds. The purpose of the time device is to save the battery. For those whose memory serves them in putting out lights, there are battery fixtures without this special device. These are equipped with pull chains and come in attractive designs.

Hints for Friends
In selecting a toy for a child, the modern shopper must evaluate the child for whom it is intended. He should know something of the child's age, his interests and abilities. To have a ready appeal, a toy should fit in with what a child knows and what he is able to do.

A relative or friend about to make a visit at a home where there is a child whom he doesn't know, is wise to wait until he has made the child's acquaintance before he goes shopping. Perhaps he can arrange to take the child along. Or better still, he may decide to wait until he goes home.

I particularly favor the latter method. For then not alone does the visitor know enough about the child to make a wise purchase but he knows whether he ought to make it. For if the child already has more toys than he knows what to do with, he won't appreciate another toy, and we can put our money to better use by remembering his mother with some small token instead.

Frankness Desirable
The frequent visitor at a home where there are children, does the children and the parents an injustice, by making it a point never to arrive empty-handed. Outsiders have no right to spoil children to this extent. It is the wrong kind of consideration for children to expect from adults. Parents ought to have enough to give to their own children. The friends won't be hurt. Indeed they might even be relieved. More often than not, the toy is bought with the parent in mind rather than the child. The visitor wants to please the parent; and if the parent's pleasure is unmistakable, rest assured that the visitor will repeat the gesture on his next visit.

When a child's education is concerned, a parent must speak up. Say: "It was nice of you to bring Jerry that toy, Cousin Kate, but you must promise me not to go to the trouble and expense again. Jerry still has some toys from last Christmas which he has not got around to yet."

You and Your Child GET THE TOYS A CHILD LIKES

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

AS SUITABLE toy is one which a child can work with and enjoy. Children like to work for their play. The toy therefore must be able to do things if manipulated, and the child must be mentally and physically to control it. If the toy is too hard for his age and development, he will soon give up trying to master it. A child likes to get results. When the result is attained through his own effort, he enjoys complete satisfaction. Any toy that makes it impossible, will lose his interest, give him pleasure, stimulate his imagination and teach him manual dexterity, if properly chosen. He will return to it again and again of his own volition.

In selecting a toy for a child, the modern shopper must evaluate the child for whom it is intended. He should know something of the child's age, his interests and abilities. To have a ready appeal, a toy should fit in with what a child knows and what he is able to do.

PROF...

For...

Herbert Hoover, Private Citizen... Sir Arthur Salter, Economic Head...

DURING many of his campaign speeches President Roosevelt referred to the "forgotten man". On March 4, last, a forgotten man who had known fame and public acclaim left Washington to join the ranks of the obscure and the "forgotten man". This man was Herbert Hoover, the California engineer who rose to the highest public office the United States offers her sons.

For twenty years Herbert Hoover served his country in various capacities. The last four of these were most arduous and exacting. As President of the United States he was faced with some of the most difficult problems in the history of the country. How he handled these is a debatable question. What we are concerned with here is, what is the only living former president doing to forget how fields is the thing called fame.

When a man takes public office all sorts of legends grow up about him. One legend in connection with Herbert Hoover, especially after his trying years in the White House, was that he could not be gay or laugh heartily. Nothing could be further from the truth. It is true that he is undemonstrative but he can laugh and now out under friendly California skies he does laugh.

Back in Palo Alto in his hillside home near Stanford University Herbert Hoover has rid himself of the stress of care which marked his race when he left Washington last March and taken a new lease on life. He walks with a briskness which would surprise those who saw him in the last days at the national capital. He's doing exactly as he pleases. When he's sleepy, he sleeps. When he's hungry, he eats. He goes and comes without bustle or hurry.

Strangely to us, the former President does not plan to write a book. He doesn't even plan a trip abroad or to accept a position, that is not just at this time. Of course, he has told friends he may engage in some business enterprise, but for the present he is just making a great correspondence which he carries about with him. At the moment is Stanford University, which helped to rear him.

FROM time to time during the recent World Economic Conference the name of Sir Arthur Salter, member of the British Economic Advisory Council was often mentioned. Who is he? Well, for one thing, he has been for many years, a specialist in curing economic ills of nations. He was one of the leading spirits to bring about the conference of nations which sought to solve the problem of world economies.

Sir Arthur Salter is no dry-as-dust expert. Low as he is recognized that the manipulation of men is as important as the handling of matter. Once he presided over a particularly difficult committee, representatives of a dozen different nationalities, each one concentrating on holding his national interests to the death. All day they sat and argued, until the interpreters were nearly dropping and the delegates were nearly dead.

Curiously, Sir Arthur remained inactive. After dinner the delegates reassembled, but the Englishman made no move. Late at night, however, he rose and quietly went from man to man. He argued for a few minutes with the two men he saw held the key to the situation, the men whose profound differences seemed to insure a deadlock. To the astonishment of the weary delegates, the two old enemies agreed upon a compromise. A draft report was drawn and all signed.

On another occasion a committee was losing itself in a fog of talk. Sir Arthur had his own reasons for seeking an adjournment and to talk in private with the key man. The representative of an important state had been on his feet for fifteen minutes, talking about nothing in particular. When he sat down the representative of a rival state asked: "What does he say?" Up got the interpreter and caught Sir Arthur's eye. "The honorable gentleman was saying that if we do not adjourn now we shall be too late for lunch." Sir Arthur let the way out.

A famous European statesman now dead once described Sir Arthur Salter to his beautiful and distinguished wife as follows: "He is not a ladies' man and he is very reserved. He is unmarried, doesn't dance and reads Greek history for amusement. He is an Englishman who doesn't keep a dog and never shot anything in his life."

Believe it or not the lady who thought she had a most difficult task to perform in meeting Sir Arthur told her husband: "I began by being polite and ended by being interested. That man has a magic gift. He talks and you see the machine working."

CLEVER WOMEN THINK UP THEIR OWN OPINIONS

MARIAN MAY'S MARTIN

SOME women have "swing-door" minds, hinged so they swing either in or out. Tolerant, they call themselves changeable and call them—and trying. Not that it is a characteristic peculiar to women. For there are men who are of the one-hand and on-the-other variety. Still in all, it is women who usually exercise what has come to be considered a woman's privilege, a change of mind.

IF MINDS did not change, enough to see the other side, and reverse themselves because of what they say, life would be a good deal harder than it does. It is regarded as a praiseworthy trait to stick to your guns, but it is only praiseworthy up to a certain extent, after that it's mere pig-headedness or obstinacy.

THE man or woman who is not big enough to say, "I was wrong," and to reverse their own decisions when they are convinced of being wrong, have not much strength of character. Obstinacy is not a lovable trait, and most certainly should not be confused with loyalty. Everyone must admit that circumstances invariably alter cases, and if cases, why not opinions? The thing to watch out for is the danger of running into one cause against another without knowing both sides of the story, or of forming an opinion about which one has only a very limited, and often biased knowledge.

HAVING been brought up to accept what we were told as truth, has not been particularly good for the mentally indolent who find it easier, and safer to have someone else do their thinking for them. They accept as gospel, statements that are open to argument. Of course, everyone is entitled to his own opinion, but the unfortunate part of it is that the statement may not be in accord with one's opinion at all, just something heard so often that it has never occurred to us to challenge its truthfulness. Why? Because we never even troubled to think about it. Take the pro and con opinions quoted. Each statement has the ring of truth, and certainly of sincere conviction about it, yet which is truth, since obviously both cannot be.

It is better five guilty persons escape punishment than one innocent person should die.—SIR MATTHEW HALE, Lord Chief Justice of England.

"Rather get the innocent suffer than the guilty escape."—CHARLES XII of Sweden.

"No public man who values his character ever destroys a letter or a paper."—SIR ROBERT PEEL.

"Never keep any letter or document if you can possibly help it. You only give yourself infinite trouble if you do, and if you die, you bequeath a legacy of mischief."—JUDITH PHILIP BENJAMIN.

WHO is right, the Lord Chief Justice of England, or the King of Sweden? In administering justice one ought, of course, be very certain to which opinion they favor. Not only in punishing the innocent and the guilty, but in other decisions one should be as positive as we can possibly be.

DO NOT let someone else do your thinking for you. Adoring wives, and wives not so adoring but indolent, are eternally quoting their husbands. When a subject comes up for discussion, they pipe up with "my husband says," or "my husband thinks." Instead of saying what they themselves think. Usually the very women who are always broadcasting their husbands' views, are telling him a thing or two in private, but when his opinion is at variance, they are inclined to think he must be right, although it's a safe bet that they would be the last to admit it.

Light Up Dark Closets

It is dangerous to go poking around in dark closets. For such closets there are battery fixtures which light up automatically as the closet door is opened, and are shut off when the door is shut. Any handy man around the house can install one of these battery lights practically in less time than it takes to tell about it.

300 AT WORK AT OAKDALE CANNERIES

OAKDALE, Aug. 2—Giving 300 persons employment, the Calistan Packers cannery between Oakdale and Salda opened today to handle a run of peaches—the first of the season in this district.

When operations are in full swing expected the first of next week, the number employed is expected to reach 750, officials said.

Wages for men will conform to the 27½ cent requirement of the State Industrial Welfare Commission, according to J. R. Fisher, secretary-treasurer.

Piece work wages for women will enable 35 percent of them to make that amount or more in accordance with the commission's ruling, he added.

These figures are considerably above those paid earlier in the season by the canneries.

The opening run will be on Tuesdays. Midsummer will be next starting August 10.

To give more labor, pitting will be done by hand. This means 225 additional workers will be employed. Other canneries, Fisher said use machines.

A 20-ton run on Tuesdays is anticipated. The fruit to be handled has been grown in this district.

A. A. A. Checks Ford V-8 in Economy Run

representative, assisting. Ricker, Lewis and T. E. Allen, secretary of the Board, also signed the certificate.

The economy run was entirely in charge of Contest Board personnel and was made with a strictly stock Ford car. Sent on its way by United States Senator R. R. Reynolds, of North Carolina, the crew operated the car day and night for more than seven days, both on Washington streets and the superb motor highway which connects the Capitol with Mount Vernon, the colonial home of George Washington on the bank of the Potomac river.

Functioned Perfectly

During the entire run the Ford functioned perfectly. No mechanical adjustments were required. The crankcase was filled with new oil after every 1,000 miles, but no additional oil was required. After the initial filling at the start of the run no additional water was required in the radiator.

The Board's certificate shows that the run was made at an average speed of 27.468 miles per hour. The speed was less in city streets and greater along the Mt. Vernon Highway.

Car driven 5,022 miles and averages 22.532 miles per gallon of fuel

An official certificate attesting to the highly economical performance record made by a Ford V-8 during a 5,022-mile economy run in Washington, D. C. and on the famous Mt. Vernon Memorial highway has just been issued by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association. The certificate is signed by E. V. Ricker,

Contest Board in Charge. The test was in charge of Chester S. Ricker for the contest board, with P. W. Lewis, technical

Know Your Firms

San Pablo Lumber A Local Industry

The lumber business is well represented in our city and county yet there are those firms engaged in the business that show that they are not slow in their methods of dealing with the builder, home builder and prospective home builder. One of these firms that has given true personal service, quality and fair prices since its inception in our city is the San Pablo Lumber company, whose large office and yards are located at 8th to 10th streets on Ohio Ave. This concern is owned and managed by Nelson and Sons.

The lumber business as managed here, requires considerable capital, in order to take care of your every want and this concern has spared no expense in providing everything needed in the building game. Few concerns indeed have more or better facilities to give the public adequate service at the best prices. The San Pablo Lumber Company is therefore able to go into the larger markets, purchase in volume and pass the savings on to their customers.

Their plant devoted to Mill Work could not be overlooked as they have perhaps the largest and most complete mill for turning out work of character on ordinary and special requirements that are needed, such as sash, doors, panels, and other standard stock.

Mr. Nelson and Sons are known throughout our city and county as progressive business men whose one aim in the business, is to turn out work that will merit the trade, and their motto, there is no substitute for quality, service and honest prices.

The San Pablo Lumber Company is a local concern, employing a number of local men in all branches of the business and is helping to make Richmond an industrial center. Buy at home and save the difference.

Stock Exchange Curbs Wildcats

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 — UP — Drastic measures designed to curb normal buying and "wildcat" speculation in securities were approved today by the governing committee of the New York stock exchange.

The new regulations, which brokers believe will curtail trading on "thin" margin by small speculators, were contained in an order to brokerage firms to increase their margin requirements.

The exchange will require a margin of 30 percent on any debt balance of more than $500, and a minimum margin of 50 percent on all debt balances under that figure. Additional margin requirements will be imposed on short positions and on stocks selling at low prices.

In the past, most brokers have demanded a 25 percent margin on average accounts.

Should the exchange deem any such action unsound, it will take action against the broker under its constitutional powers.

Service Clubs Are Holding Meetings At The Ford Plant

The Richmond Kiwanis Club yesterday held its weekly luncheon meeting at the Ford plant, acting as host to visiting Kiwanians from far and near, as the feature of second day of open house week at the local factory.

Open house will continue with special events each day until 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Carol Keeley of the Ford organization acted as chairman at the Kiwanis meet, presenting Clarence A. Bullwinkel, manager of the plant, who welcomed the visitors and explained the high light of the Ford plant and how it carries out the principles of mass production. He then personally led the Kiwanians through the factory, showing the assembly line in full operation, turning out cars for the western states.

Rotarians Friday

On Friday the Rotarians will have their luncheon, along with a large Chamber of Commerce delegation from the bay cities led by P. M. Sanford, head of the Richmond Chamber.

These will occupy a special table at the Rotary luncheon, which will draw together a large number of Rotarians members from many of the cities of central California. An outstanding feature of the week will be the ferry boat excursion Friday night from San Francisco when Ford dealer will be guests who are expected to number 3,000.

The boat will tie up at the Piers Richmond Terminal No. 3 on the inner harbor, one of the few occasions when a vessel of this type has decked at this facility. A special corps of guides is being assembled to escort the visitors through the plant.

Crowds Continue

Bullwinkel said the response to the open house invitation has been highly gratifying, basing the first day saw a large crowd of visitors, and a still larger number on the second day. It is anticipated that the attendance will increase

Code For Fish Canners Suits Most Everyone

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2 — UP — Sardine canners of California today adopted a code which was said to be acceptable to 90 percent of the industry in the state.

It provides payment of $6 per ton to fishermen, minimum wages of 30 cents an hour for men and 27½ cents for women in canneries and a 40-hour working week.

The tonnage price is 50 cent greater than the 1932 scale, and minimum wages also are higher. The code will be forwarded to Washington for approval, but meanwhile it was ordered in operation in the state.

It was estimated 10,000 persons would be employed at the peak of the canning season, which opened August 1.

KELLY WALES PROBATION PLEA PROBED

MARTINEZ, Aug. 2—Dr. Thomas A. Boyer, county probation officer, today began an investigation preparatory to submitting a report August 14 on the application of W. L. (Kelly) Wales for probation.

Wales, former manager of an Oakland sporting goods store, and one of the principals in the Contra Costa county school department scandal, pleaded guilty to 13 counts of grand theft late yesterday in the court of Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston.

Carlson's Case

Wales, represented by his attorney, Thomas M. Carlson of Richmond, filed application for probation and Judge Johnston instructed Dr. Boyer to submit his report on August 14.

In the first trial the jury disagreed after balloting six to six. Wales, a former Pacific Coast League baseball player, was accused of defrauding the county of $11,000 through manipulations in the sale of sporting goods.

Collect on Bond

Discrepancies in school department accounts were uncovered by C. J. Rambo, grand jury auditor, following the mysterious death of W. H. Hanlon, county school superintendent for 26 years.

Last week a bonding company turned over $4131 to the county for alleged shortages occurring during Hanlon's term.

One person, S. L. Orrett, Hanlon's "right hand man," is serving a San Quentin term as an outgrowth of the grand jury probe.

TO ELECT DELEGATES

SAN LEANDRO, Aug. 2—Three delegates to the National V. F. W. Convention in Milwaukee next month will be elected by San Leandro post at its regular meeting Monday evening in the Masonic Temple, Commander Jack Gleason announced today.

Why—

Chesterfields are as good as Science and Money can make them

Every pound of Domestic tobacco used in Chesterfield cigarettes is aged for thirty months—2½ years. Science knows there is no other way to make cigarette tobaccos mild and mellow.

Every process used in the manufacture of Chesterfield cigarettes is modern, scientific and clean—visitors are always impressed with the cleanliness of the Chesterfield factories.

Every ingredient, including the paper, is pure—nothing that you eat or drink is tested more carefully.

And Chesterfields are made right; the right length, the right diameter, and filled right—a detail perhaps, but if a cigarette is "to satisfy" it must be made right.

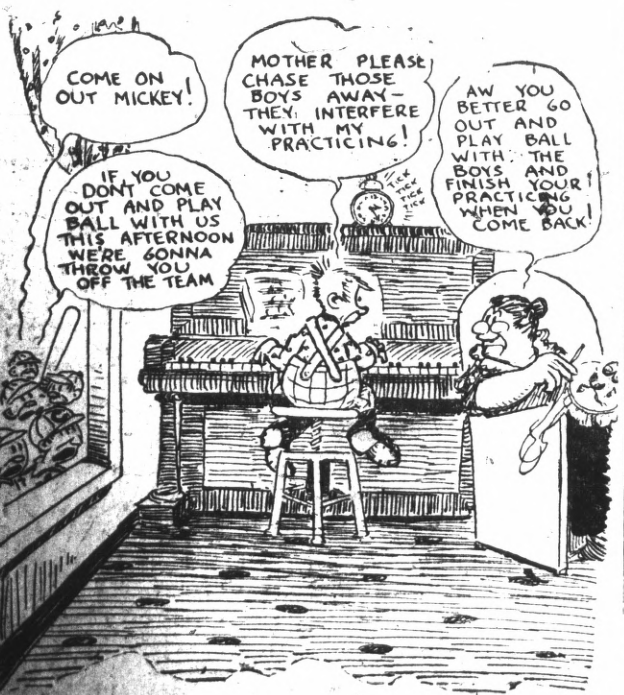

Everything about Chesterfield is as good as money can buy or Science knows about—you have our word for this.

And Chesterfields are milder and taste better—this much you can prove for yourself.
